

- 1) Many folks have 'climb a mountain' on their bucket list. Have you ever climbed a mountain or done something similar? Was it worth the effort involved?
- 2) Our study series is now in Exodus 19. How many times in the Scripture to this point (Gen 1-Ex 18) have you read of God speaking to someone? Is there a particular geographical place people had to be to hear the Lord speaking to them? If not, what is the common thread among all those who heard God talking to them? Why is that important to keep in mind?
- 3) Read Exodus 19:1-3. Why did Moses want to climb the mountain? Consider Ex 3:1-4:17 in your answer.
- 4) Reread Exodus 19:1-3. Why didn't anyone else go up with Moses to meet the Lord? Are you more like the people encamped at the foot of the mountain, or are you more like Moses?
- 5) Does God want to speak to His people today? Read John 10:27, Revelation 3:20 and Luke 11:9-10. Does Scripture affirm or change your answer? How do you hear God's voice to you?
- 6) During the message, the point was made that when we step out to intentionally make a significant effort to meet the Lord, He seems to respond in a very positive way. Is that your experience? When was the last time you intentionally made a significant effort to meet the Lord?
- 7) The message on Sunday concluded with a challenge to take a significant part of a day to intentionally communicate with the Lord. Did you do that? If not, when will you do that? If you did, share what happened.
